Download my free guide to learn how to make your home feel brand new with these five simple tips:

1. Repurpose and Upcycle

Unlock the hidden potential of items you already have. Turn old crates into stylish shelving, repurpose jars into chic candle holders, and give your tired furniture a fresh facelift with paint you have on hand. I also love to use baskets to corral similar items, making for a simple vignette. Baskets can also hold fruit on the counter and even small toys to help keep your living areas tidy.

2. Rearrange for a New Perspective

Sometimes, all you need is a new arrangement. Furniture placement can create a more open, inviting space. The placement of your furniture can make small rooms feel larger and enhance the flow of your home. Don't be afraid to play around and repurpose your furniture pieces by trying them in different rooms. A buffet may make a great television stand. You could even use a book shelf in a walk-in pantry.

3. Bring the Outside In

Nature is the best decorator. I love to use branches, leaves, and flowers from my garden to add a touch of greenery and freshness to my home. Learn to create stunning centerpieces and nature-inspired accents to beautify your home. If you don't have a green thumb, take a walk through the woods and discover wild flowers and ferns to liven up your spaces.

4. Decorate with Books

Books aren't just for reading—they're perfect for decorating too! Get creative and use your favorite reads as statement pieces, from stacking them artfully on coffee tables to creating unique wall art. Books make perfect risers for other décor items as well.

5. Stylishly Use Your Dishes

Your everyday dishes can double as décor. Display your beautiful plates, bowls, and cups on a hutch or open shelving to add color and character to your kitchen and dining areas.
